

Efficient use of renewable and fossil sources

In the future, the use of fossil sources remains necessary in periods of windlessness or little sun. Renewable sources can be efficiently deployed in cogeneration systems for example.